THE VESSEL

A classic Pacific Northwest wooden sail vessel
built to last, documented to prove it.

Seawulff is a 1981 wood-hulled auxiliary sailboat built in Olympia, Washington and hailing from Port Townsend — one of the most storied wooden boat communities on the West Coast. Yellow Cedar, Port Orford Cedar, and Western Red Cedar planking over steam-bent White Oak frames. Teak-planked cabin tops. Bronze hardware throughout. This is a vessel built the old way, for the long run.

She carries a full Dacron sail inventory — main, staysail, jib, and drifter — along with 1x19 stainless standing rigging and a double forestay. The Saab 2-cylinder diesel starts clean, with injector pump rebuilt and injectors checked. Two trunk cabins, V-berth forward, main salon with U-shaped settee, galley aft to port, and a dedicated aft cabin with counter workspace.

Previously USCG-certified for passenger operation on Puget Sound — a level of inspection most private vessels never see. Clean documentation. Survey history on file. Ready for her next chapter.
