THE VESSEL

A Down East classic — Maine built, single-diesel simple.

Miss Maggie II is a 2016 Back Cove 30 — the boat that defined the modern Down East cruiser. Built in Rockland, Maine, the 30 pairs a single diesel inboard with a soft-riding semi-displacement hull, giving you the look of a classic lobster yacht and the running costs of one engine. She is USCG documented and lies in covered moorage at Edmonds.

Back Cove's reputation rests on how much boat they fit into thirty feet without making it feel crowded. A deep windshield and wraparound glass keep the pilothouse bright and the visibility honest. The helm sits to starboard with a companion settee opposite and a salon that converts for guests. Forward there is a private cabin with a proper V-berth, a separate head with shower, and a galley with refrigeration, stovetop and microwave — everything a couple needs for a week in the San Juans.

The cockpit is deep, self-draining and uncluttered, with easy side-deck access forward. Below the sole a single diesel sits in a clean, well-lit engine space with genuine room to work — the kind of installation that tells you how a boat has been kept. A generator, bow thruster and Espar diesel cabin heat make her a true three-season Northwest boat.

Offered at $299,000. Full documentation, service records and sea trial available on request.
